NUMB. 4055

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1745.

Vienna, January 27.

THE Day before Yesterday the Duke, Co-Regent, return'd from Olmutz, accompanied by Prince Lewis of Bevern, Lieutenant Field-Marshal. His Royal Highness was extremely well satisfied with the Interview he had with their Polish Majesties, who, on their Parts, express'd the highest Satisfaction at the Preparations made for their Reception; made considerable Presents to all the Officers of this Court that had the Honour to wait upon them. Prince Lewis, on his Arrival at Brin, receiv'd an Express from Germany, with Advice, that the Prussians were gone into Winter Quarters, having suffer'd exceedingly by the bad Operations during so cold a Season; in that Circumstance being no way necessary in the Army, his Royal Highness is expected here To-morrow. A Report prevails here, as if her Imperial Majesty of Russia intended to march a Body of 36,000 Men into Germany, under the Command of the Imperial Prince, attended by Field-Marshal Lacy, who commanded the Russian Troops that march'd into Germany Ten Years ago for the Service of the Emperor Charles VI, of glorious Memory.

Prague, January 27. On the 24th, about Six in the Evening, preceded by Four Officers of the Post-Office, in their Liveries, arrived in this City the King and Queen of Poland, amidst the Acclamations of the People, and triple Discharge of the Artillery from our Ramparts. They were lodg'd in the Royal Palace, from whence her Majesty went, on the 25th, to pay her Devotions to the blessed Martyr, St. John de Nepomuck. The same Day their Majesties dined in Publick, at a Table of 32 Covers, to which the Nobility were admitted; in the Evening there was an Assembly; and the next Morning, about Eight o'Clock, their Majesties set out again for Dresden, extremely well pleased with the Honours that were paid them here. The Princesses departed soon after their Majesties Departure, and were attended with the same Ceremony and Marks of Respect as their Majesties had been.

Hague, February 3. It is most certain, that our Politicks never were more in Confusion than at present. Mr. Fagel, the Comptroler-General of the Finances, who is said to have the Worker of Miracles, has received Orders to provide the necessary Materials for re-edifying the ruin'd Structure, built by the late Cardinal. Notwithstanding the vast Sums he has already raised, he is to add a few Millions more for the Service of the current Year, which are to be laid out in Negotiations, particularly at the Dyet of the Empire; to which the King sends an Ambassador Extraordinary, three or four Under-Ministers, besides the Armies of M. Coigny and Maillebois, which are to be at hand to give Weight to their Negotiations; and, at the same time, our Ministers in Holland, and elsewhere have been directed to assure the several Courts where they reside, that his Majesty will not interfere in that Election one Way or other. An Express was dispatched to M. Coigny, to hinder his Progress in the Demolition of Fribourg, in case any Part of the Works belonging to that Fortress should be left standing when these Instructions come to Hand, the Design being to make it a Place of Arms for the Conveniency of his Armies, in case he should be obliged to withdraw his Troops out of Bavaria. It is reported that by taking this City, we lost the late Emperor; the Commissaries would have taken an Oath of Fidelity from the Inhabitants, if M. Coigny would have given them Leave. His Imperial Majesty likewise desires to preserve the Fortifications, which he thought he had better Right to expect; since, as he apprehends the Place was taken on his Behalf. But the Emperor, it seems, was mistaken in that, as we were told; for if he had lived, he had certainly concluded a Peace with the Queen of Hungary, and had, perhaps, gone a Step farther; so that his Death may possibly prove no Loss, in case the Negotiations at a certain Court, and in favour of that Court, at another Place, should meet with Success.

HOME PORTS.

Falmouth, February 4. Wind S.E. Since my last sailed the George, Michell, and the Susanna, Wood, for Lisbon; and the Charming Betty, Webber, for Cadiz.

Plymouth, February 6. Arrived the Portland, Russel, the Thomas and Sarah, Bishop, and the Charming Molly, Tizard, all from London.

Pool, February 6. Wind W. Came in the Providence, Wells, from London. Sailed the Jolliffe Sloop, Pelly, for Tenby. Put into Studland Bay the Bacchus Privateer, Capt. Taverner. Remains at Brownsey the Marlborough Privateer, Capt. Southeren, for a Cruize.

Portsmouth, February 7. Yesterday came to Spithead his Majesty's Ship the Ludlow Castle, Capt. Bradley, from the Downs, with Forty Sail of Merchant Ships under her Convoy. This Morning came in the Industry, Knowler, from London for Lisbon.

Dover, February 7. Wind N. N. W. and blows hard. Arriv'd the ———, a French Snow, Capt. Le Basque, from Morlaix for London.

Deal, February 7. Wind N. W. Came down the Rowley, Tobin, for Gibraltar; the Scipio, Tobin, for Nevis; and the Banstead, Whiting, for Virginia; and remain with all the Ships as per list.

Gravesend, February 7. Passed by the Mitford, Rowe, from Barbados.

LONDON.

They write from Stockholm, that his Highness Prince William of Hesse, has demanded the Interposition of the Crown of Sweden, in order to compromise Disputes in Germany, and restore the Peace of the Empire.

His Sardinian Majesty having demanded a catagorical Answer from the State of Genoa, as to the Conduct they intend to pursue in the present Conjuncture, has been answered, that it depended entirely on his Majesty.

The Duke de Montemar is said to have formed the Plan of Operations in Italy, and thereby has merited his Restoration to their Catholick Majesties Favour; and it is said, will speedily proceed to Genoa.

The French King has declared, that he intends to make the Campaign with the Marshal Count de Saxe, in Flanders; that the Prince of Conti shall command in the Empire, and have M. Coigny to assist him; and that M. de Maillebois shall be at the Head of the Army in Italy.

Count Wassenaer de Twickell is said to have told a certain Ambassador Extraordinary, on his Arrival in Holland, that he was exceedingly rejoic'd at his Return to the Hague; since he was sure his Excellency's Interposition, would either add Grace to the Peace, or give Vigour to the War.

The La Fleuron, a French Man of War, lately arrived from the West Indies, is burnt by Accident at Brest.

The Pembroke Man of War was overset on Thursday going down from Chatham to Blackstakes, and upward of 100 of her Crew were drowned, beside several Women who were on board.

Orders are sent to Sheerness and Chatham, for the Carpenters to work double Tides, in order to expedite the building of the several Ships that are on the Stocks at those Places.

His Majesty has been pleased to give Directions that his Forces, in Flanders, should be furnished with the Manufacture, Corn, and other Product of Great Britain.

The Right Hon. the Earl of Orford is relapsed, and lies dangerously ill.

Yesterday Morning Mrs. Pollard, Wife of Mr. Pollard, a Drum-Major now in Flanders, was found dead in an empty House in the Broad Way, Westminster.

We hear from Chelmsford, that there are more Prisoners in that Jail, to be try'd at the ensuing Assizes for Capital Offences, than has been known there for near Forty Years past.

EXTRACT from the PREFACE.

The Beauty and Elevation of his Stile is equal to the Greatneſs and Glory of the People whoſe Story he writes: He is every where luminous, intelligible, and agreeable; but when he enters into important Affairs, he riſes even above himſelf, to treat them with peculiar Attention, and a Kind of Self-delight and Complacency. He renders the Action he deſcribes preſent; he ſets it before the Eyes; he does not relate it, he ſhews it. He paints the Genius and Character of Perſonages he brings upon the Stage after Nature; and puts into their Mouths Words which are always conformable to their Sentiments and different Situations. In ſhort, he has the wonderful Art of keeping his Readers in ſo pleaſing a Suſpence by the Variety of Events, and to engage their Curioſity ſo ſtrangely, that they cannot quit his Relation of an Incident till it is entirely at an End.
